UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Israeli agreement to pull its troops out of Egypt and Britain's announcement that it is withdrawing some military units from the east Mediterranean spurred efforts today to rush a U.N. police force to the Middle East.

Prime Minister Egan told the House of Commons in London that many Royal Air Force squadrons would be pulled out of Cyprus at once.

Egan also said British assault troops—paratroop and commando groups—will be moved out of Egypt's Port Said. He said they will be replaced by infantry units until the U.N. police force moves into Egypt.

Paratroops Leave

A dispatch from Famagusta, Cyprus, said a contingent of British paratroops already had returned there after spending three days on the Port Said beachhead.

The 17 which have volunteered contributions are Australia, Brazil, Burma, Canada, Ceylon, Colombia, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Finland, India, Indonesia, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Romania, Sweden and Yugoslavia.

Egan said RAF ground units would remain on Cyprus, but it "will now be possible for many squadrons to fly home."

"In an emergency," he added, "with the ground organization in existence, they can be redeployed in Cyprus and Malta within a matter of hours."

He also said additional infantry reserves would remain on Cyprus.

Quiet was reported on the Suez Canal battlefront as U. N. officials worked at top speed to mobilize the international police force.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld hinted that the first units of the U. N. force would reach Egypt "very shortly."

Informed sources said plans call for getting two teams of about 40 men each on the scene as soon as possible, and to follow up with a final force expected to number from 2,500 to 5,000 men or more.

Seventeen U. N. members have volunteered to contribute to the police organization, he big powers are excluded from service with the force.

Change Of Policy

Israel's agreement to withdraw its troops represented an overnight change of policy after a strong appeal from President Eisenhower. Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion told his Parliament Wednesday Israel would not yield any Israeli or Israeli-occupied territory to any foreign force, whatever it was called.

Last night Israel's foreign minister, Mr. Golda Meir, messaged Hammarskjöld that "the government of Israel will willingly withdraw its forces from Egypt immediately upon the conclusion of satisfactory arrangements with the United Nations in connection

U.S. Consul In Port Said Is Target For Tommygunners

By WILLIAM MAHONEY
(Representing The American Press)

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—Egyptian tommygunners climbed to a second floor balcony and sprayed the living room of U.S. Consul Anthony Cuomo Tuesday night, narrowly missing him and wounding a vice consul, Cuomo revealed yesterday.

The consul, from Detroit, Mich. and Modesto, Calif., said he, Vice Consul Thomas Dickson of Kilgore, Tex., and two others were sitting in the second floor living room in the consulate when it happened.

He said he saw youthful Egyptian tommygunners leave the street and climb to an adjacent balcony. Then, he said they turned and opened up.

Gunmen Disappeared
"The guns were pointed directly at me," Cuomo said. "I dodged and fell to the floor. I heard them chatter."

Others in the room took cover but Dickson was hit by flying glass and suffered a cut head. The gunmen disappeared after their quick bursts.

"There was no doubt who they were shooting at," Cuomo said. The consul, who played a key role in bringing about a cease-

BABY BEEF CLUB MEMBERS EARN $1,018 AT SALE

The 25 Adams County 4-H Baby Beef Club members who sold their steers at the annual regional 4-H roundup and sale at Lancaster Thursday made a profit of $1,018.46 on their animals.

Associate County Agent Fred H. Attinger said the largest profit was made by Robert Hay, Gettysburg R. D., who had a new profit of $84.38 on the sale of his animal. The lowest profit was $1.98.

The county youngsters had an investment of $6,289.49 in their steers and secured $7,307.95 for them at the sale.

An average of 28.56 cents per pound was obtained by the county youths. The highest price paid for an Adams County steer went to the first place winner produced by Jan Ziegler, Gardner's R. 1. The Meadow Valley Abattoir, Gettysburg R. D., purchased the animal at a bid of 30.75 cents per pound.

Second highest price obtained was the 30 cents a pound paid by the York Springs Meat Market for the steers of Donald Bair and Spencer Stambaugh.

Other Purchases
The Battlefield Service Station purchased the 925-pound steer of Philip Nace, Hanover R. 5, for 29.75 cents per pound. Gilbert's Food Market, Biglerville, purchased the 950-pound steer of Cheryl Snyder, Gardner's R. 1. for 29.25 cents a pound. Minter's Store, Baltimore St. bought an 875-pound steer from Shirley Bair, Hanover, R. 2, for 28.75 cents a pound. Largest single buyer of Adams County beef was Consolidated Beef Co. of Philadelphia, which bought nine of the Adams County entries.

The 25 steers entered by the county weighed 24,685 pounds at sale time. They had weighed 11,080 when purchased last winter.

In the county trio competition Adams County won eighth place among ten counties entered.

NEW OXFORD HIGH YEARBOOK WINS

The New Oxford High School has been notified that its 1956 yearbook, "The Memento," was awarded first place for the fourth consecutive year among yearbooks in schools of its size by the Pennsylvania School Press Association.

The announcement was made by President John Dunn of Uniontown and Robert W. Broome, contest director.

The New Oxford annual scored a total of 975 points out of a possible 1,000 in competition with other yearbooks from schools with from 350 to 500 pupils. The 150-page volume was based on the theme "We the People" with the phrase association making special mention of a 15-page section of the book devoted to development of its theme.

The book was dedicated to the members of the Lower Adams County Joint School Board of which Harry C. Brinton was president.

The editor of the yearbook was Gwendolyn Freed, now a student at the University of Pennsylvania. Other staff heads were Elizabeth Snyder, production chief, now a student at East Stroudsburg; Eddie Starnier, business manager, now at Westminster Choir School at Princeton, N. J.; Richard Sipe, advertising manager; Ruth Miller, subscription manager, and Dr. Herbert Bryan, faculty sponsor.

The book's liner featured the last state champion band produced by the New Oxford High School.

The book was printed by the offset press.

C. G. SPEAKER EXPLAINS U. S. HIGHWAY AID; HOLD ELECTION

The U.S. Federal Aid for Highways program will mark the biggest governmental expenditure for any single undertaking with the exception of World War II, Dwight M. Ludington, public relations representative for the Portland Cement Association, told the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting Thursday evening at the Peace Light Inn.

Cost of the proposed highway construction under the federal aid program during the next 13 years will exceed even the cost of World War I, he said.

Elect 3 Directors
President Mares Sherman presided at the meeting with about 50 present. Glenn Guise reported for the nominating committee and he and David Blocher served as tellers. Walter B. Lane, Charles B. Bender and Julian Estep were elected directors for three-year terms. Lane and Bender were re-elected. Estep succeeds C. F. Cluck.

Impact of the federal road program will be felt in every part of the nation, the speaker said. "Part of the impact you are feeling now is increased taxes. But the highway program actually should save you money. You will be paying about $9 a year for additional taxes, but if you drive an average 10,000 miles a year it should save you $100 a year in increased economical use of your car. That means a net of $91 a year, on an average, for each motorist after the highway construction is completed. That money will go somewhere and it will probably mean more money spent for just about everything."

Cities Stabilizing Effect
"The saving will come from less wear and tear on tires, less gasoline per mile, less damage from accidents because the new highways will be safer. Each time you stop and go in traffic it causes as much wear on your tires as two miles of steady driving. Each time you stop and go it takes as much gasoline as it would to drive two city blocks. So you can easily see how the better highways program will lead to savings in automobile operation."

The program, because it extends over a 13-year period, "will have a stabilizing effect over that period. New jobs will be created, new industries will spring up to use the roads, contractors will have to expand their forces and equipment," he pointed out.

The federal program is divided into interstate-defense highways for which the federal government will provide 90 per cent of the funds, and a primary roads system for which the federal government will provide 50 per cent of the cost, Ludington explained.

Provision is also made for federal aid for secondary and "farm to market" highways. "So it will result in general improvement of all our highways," he said. "It is the biggest program ever planned."

Best Specifications
The interstate and defense road system will carry 30 per cent of all the traffic in the United States when completed, Ludington said. He added that the interstate system will consist only of limited access roads, "built to the finest

MISS GASTON SINGS SUNDAY

When the charming, beautiful, young Philippine mezzo-soprano, Conchita Gaston, made her debut in the title role of "Carmen" at the New York City Center Opera Company, Deems Taylor, noted critic and musicologist, had this to say: "There may be a better 'Carmen' than Conchita Gaston, but I haven't heard one."

A vivacious, dark-eyed lady of outstanding ability and sparkling personality, Miss Gaston will be heard Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Christ Chapel. She was born in Manila, one of a family of 15 (10 boys and five girls). As a youngster she much preferred playing with her brothers.

Played Baseball
Today, Conchita Gaston (her first name means "little shell" in Spanish) fondly recalls her baseball games with her brothers, but she says that her tomboy antics almost made her mother despair of ever becoming a lady.

"When I finally grew up, my mother used to tell her friends she never knew I could be a lady until she saw me on a stage."

Miss Gaston still likes the outdoors—but not for active participation in baseball. It's swimming now, at which she spends as much spare time as her voice teacher will permit. While only a toddler, she learned how to swim in the Philippines' surf, and she even seriously considered swimming as a career until a voice instructor told her she would have to choose between swimming and singing.

Record Smashers

Cmdr. M. L. Lewis, left, and Lt. Cmdr. M. D. Ross piloted their balloon at Rapid City, S. Dak., to a record-breaking altitude of 76,000 feet—breaking record set by Army pilots in 1935. They landed near Kennedy, Neb., after being aloft over four hours. Picture was taken Tuesday when they made a dry run. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Navy Balloonists Soar 14 Miles High; Dark As Night

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP)—With a record ascension of more than 14 miles to their credit, two Navy balloonists rested here today after a descent to earth a lot faster than they had anticipated.

Commanders Malcolm D. Ross, 37, and Morton L. Lewis, 43, both of Washington, D. C., riding a gondola attached to a 128-foot helium balloon, reached 76,000 feet yesterday over the broken land of South Dakota and Nebraska.

They reached that height 2 hours and 50 minutes after they started upward from a natural bowl in the Black Hills near Rapid City. From that same natural bowl another balloon had soared 72,395 feet in 1935 to set the previous record.

However, Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe, in a Bell X-2 rocket plane, made a higher — 126,000 feet — but unofficial flight last August at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

Up at 76,000 feet, the two men later said, "it was dark as night." They sipped some coffee and radioed their height back to earth. Then they started down.

The first 20,000 feet found things going as scheduled at 1,000 feet a minute drop.

But then something happened—Ross and Lewis said they didn't know what — and their fall rate shot up.

"We are calm, cool, collected. We think we will stay with the balloon as long as we can," they radioed.

Clear 3,000 Residents From Jersey Crash Area; 4 Dead

NORTH BERGEN, N. J. (AP)—Some 3,000 residents had been cleared today from an area around an 810-foot television tower for fear it might topple following a plane crash which took four lives.

A twin-engine Beechcraft en route from Indianapolis was flying through rain and fog yesterday when it clipped off one leg of the lattice steel tower, believed to be the tallest structure in New Jersey.

The private plane then smashed into the top of a crowded apartment house eight blocks away. One engine was hurled into the courtyard of a parochial school. Flaming gasoline sprayed trees along the street.

Police said four persons are known dead — two men who were in the plane and two women from the apartment house. One of the women jumped five stories to the street in panic as the building burst into flames.

Fifteen others were injured, one seriously. They included 12 firemen.

Mayor Angelo Sarubbi ordered some 3,000 persons in the area to evacuate their homes last night.

About 500 volunteer workers helped them move in with relatives or into two schools thrown open as emergency centers.

Unused For 3 Years
The tower is owned by New York radio station WOR but has not been in use since 1953. Residents have been unsuccessful in court action to get the tower torn down as a hazardous nuisance.

WOR officials announced the top of the tower would be dismantled today. Gordon Gray, executive vice president and general manager of the station, said about 75 feet would be removed "as a precautionary measure."

Those tentatively identified as dead were:

Russel S. Williams, 58, Indianapolis, president of the Bonded Gasoline & Oil Co., a subsidiary of Gaseteria, Inc. He was on his way to LaGuardia Airport, New York, to meet his son and daughter-in-law returning from Europe.

William Cromley, Trafalgar, Ind., the pilot.

Brave Hungarians Battle Desperately For Freedom

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

VIENNA (AP)—Bitter new street fighting broke out in Budapest today and the Russian-supported Hungarian government ordered new measures to combat the doggedly resisting rebels.

Russia served notice she would brook no interference from the outside world in her fight to crush Hungary's bid for freedom. Premier Bulganin told President Eisenhower in a note that the question of Soviet troop withdrawals from Hungary was "completely and entirely" between the Russian and Hungarian governments.

The Red Hungarian regime's Budapest radio said Soviet troops and police forces were unable to quell shooting in Akacia Street, in Budapest's 7th district.

Attack Food Trains
The broadcast said "armed gangs" were breaking into factories and others were attacking food trains en route to Budapest and carrying off the food in trucks.

Budapest radio sent out urgent appeals for food transport workers to go back on the job as the country verged on starvation.

Reports from refugees crossing the Austrian frontier said a general strike still is in force and the nation's railway system is paralyzed. Lack of coal, shortage of electric power, lack of clothing and a severe food shortage are heading the country toward more chaos.

Neither Soviet troops nor the government they installed seemed able to keep the situation from worsening.

PTA INVITES PARENTS TO VISIT SCHOOLS

The Gettysburg Parent-Teacher Association in cooperation with the local school authorities has planned visits and open houses in the local schools for American Education Week, November 11-17.

Separate programs have been planned for the elementary schools and the high school. On Tuesday evening a "Visit the School Night" will be held at the high school from 7:30 until 9 p.m. so that the parents and teachers "can get better acquainted and so that parents can become more aware of the program of studies that is provided for the children of our community."

Follow Child's Schedule
The plan for the evening is that each parent is to follow his child's daily schedule. As the first period "classes" will begin at 7:30, parents are asked to report to their children's homerooms a little before that time. Teachers are to be in their rooms at 7:15 o'clock. "Class periods," including passing time, will be 15 minutes each. Student guides will be available to assist parents in finding rooms.

A social period will follow the sixth period at 9 o'clock. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria. "This evening is planned for everyone's enjoyment not for discussing student problems. If a parent has a problem the teachers will be very happy to arrange a conference with you for some other time," President James Feather said.

SENT TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT; HEARINGS HELD

James E. Ketterman Jr., Gettysburg R. 2, was found in contempt of court this morning for failure to keep current a support payment and was sentenced to jail until he pays the $62.75 arrearage.

The Ketterman case was one of a number before the Adams County court today, when support cases and other matters were disposed of in anticipation of the start of trials in November term of court Tuesday.

A request for a reduction in the support order of J. Morgan Bomberger, York Springs, was dismissed, but the court held jurisdiction in the case when testimony showed Bomberger's son, Richard, aged 16, is a patient in a Virginia hospital. The younger Bomberger was reported paralyzed as a result of an auto accident at Culpeper, Va. The father had asked as a result of the accident that support payments be made to the mother of the youth be impounded pending the outcome of possible damages the youth will receive as a result of his injuries.

Case "All Mixed Up"
The court decided to postpone a hearing on the case of Russell Osborne, Lewisberry R. 1, until December 17 when testimony showed the situation in the case to be "all mixed up," as Probation Officer D. M. Anderson explained to the court. Osborne and his wife, according to the testimony, apparently were paying support orders to the law to go to Osborne's mother-in-law while she kept the Osborne's daughter, Osborne was about $190 in arrears when some of the wife's support funds were transferred to the child in Osborne's name. Then the child was placed in an institution in Washington, and later recovered and returned to the mother-in-law. Osborne told the court he had since been making payments to the mother-in-law. When asked about the removal of the child to the institution in Washington Osborne held that he hadn't known the youngster was in an institution, but when he found out, went along with the (Continued On Page 2)

Car, Truck Collide At Intersection

A truck driver was injured and damage totaled $500 as a result of an accident at the York Springs intersection Thursday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Miller, 57, Pittsburgh, failed to stop at the stop sign and struck the side of the truck. Damage was estimated at $200 to the truck and $300 to Miller's car. Smith was treated by Dr. Leon Roos for a laceration of the hand and brushburns.

SEIFERT FIRM HAS LOW OFFER ON DINING HALL

Gettysburg College opened bids Thursday afternoon on the construction of a 700-capacity dining hall and renovation and modernization of Huber Hall with all of the offers above the $500,000 mark.

Low base bidder is A. B. Seifert and Son of York, the firm that is building the two new dormitories across Lincoln Ave. from the site of the new dining hall. The Seifert base bid is $519,647. Offers ranged as high as $557,895 from some of the seven other bidders.

The bids were opened by the Building and Grounds committee of the college's board of trustees with William H. Sandlas, Baltimore, committee chairman, presiding over the proceedings. He announced afterwards that "all of the bids are above the appropriation but we hope we can make an award soon."

To Use Federal Funds
Under regular procedure the bids, and the four alternate offers on modifications of the plans submitted by each bidder, will be studied by the Buildings committee which will make a recommendation to the Executive committee before the contract is awarded.

The new building will be financed by the college through the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency under a plan similar to that being used for the two new dormitories for men that are under construction. When the dining hall contract is awarded, building totaling more than a million dollars will be underway on the campus.

The one-story dining hall will be erected at the northwest corner of the intersection of W. Lincoln and College Aves. J. Alfred Hamme, York, who is also the architect for the new dormitories, designed the dining hall and made the plans for the renovation of Huber Hall.

The new dining hall will be of red brick with limestone trim and will be of a colonial architecture that will conform to other college buildings erected in the last several decades. The dining hall will face W. Lincoln Ave.

Huber Hall Work Later
When the new dining hall is finished the contractor will convert the present dining room, kitchen and food storage space in Huber Hall into dormitory rooms for 43 additional women students. General modernization of the building also is planned.

Seifert's base bid on the new dormitories was $364,000 among nine bidders. These bids were opened July 27 and work started in mid-August. Foundations are in now and work on the superstructures will start soon.

Their most recent work appears in the November issue of the monthly magazine, "Highlights for Children."

The story which fills a page is titled "The Little White House" and is accompanied by a drawing by Richard H. (Continued from Page 1) mother-in-law to recover the child. Told he had driven the child to Washington, he said his understanding when he took the youngster to Washington was that the child was going to stay with "this lady" for "a couple days."

Set Mignot Hearing The court, since the mother and the mother-in-law were not present, decided to get all the principals involved before it in December to get the facts in the situation. In the meantime Osborne is to pay costs and $10 per week support.

Harold S. Kindig, Hanover R. 5, was directed to pay $15 per week for the support of three children, pay the costs and enter into a bond for $500 on his own recognition following a non-support hearing.

A petition was presented to court asking that the records show compliance with the order against Rev. Francis L. Mignot, of New Jersey, in connection with a substitution in an order against him. The order handed down September 1 provided that he turn over the Philip Miller, Gettysburg R. 4, an insurance policy with a paid up value of $4,000, hand over a note for the balance due Miller and pay the costs. According to the petition presented by Attorney Donald M. Swope, the insurance policy's cash surrender value was found to be "only a few hundred dollars" because of some loans against it. As a result $4,000 in cash was turned over to Miller, the petition stated, and a note has been prepared for the balance. December 17 was set as time for a hearing on the matter.

Accounts Approved Accounts and schedules for distribution in six estates were approved by the court. The accounts and amounts for distribution were: George E. Meckley, administrator of the estate of Harry C. Meckley, late of Berwick Twp., $12,405.92; Harold B. Rudisill, executor of the will of Fanny M. Stoncipher, late of Mt. ## PARENTS PERISH WITH DAUGHTER IN MERION HOME

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A mother, father and their 12-year-old daughter suffocated from smoke in a fire which swept their suburban Merion home today.

Martin Saligman, 45; his wife, Lillian, 42, and their daughter, Lynn, 12, died in a second floor bedroom after being overcome by heavy smoke while trying to grope their way to safety.

Fire Marshal Harvey Benson said it was believed the fire, discovered about 7 a. m., started from an electric heater.

A neighbor of the Saligmans, Charles Glass, discovered the fire when he looked out his window and saw smoke pouring from windows of the spacious English-type residence.

Backed By Smoke
Glass telephoned an alarm. Detectives Lyle Tobin and John Scott, first on the scene, smashed open a French side door leading into the dining room and tried to enter the house. They were driven back by smoke.

Firemen, arriving moments later, put on gas masks and got as far as the center hall when a blast of flames drove them back. Finally, they were able to fight their way up the stairs and discovered Saligman's body first.

The textile manufacturer was lying face down in the rear of his master bedroom. The body of the daughter was nearby, also face down. Mrs. Saligman was found in the front bedroom in a sitting position.

Rescue Efforts Fail
Artificial respiration was tried and failed after which the bodies were removed to Lankenau Hospital.

The fire was brought under control quickly. Benson said it started in an unoccupied second floor bedroom which had been piled up with furniture by the Saligmans who were doing some redecorating.

The fire marshal said it was possible that some of the furniture had been placed too close to the electric heater in the room and that when the heat went on the furniture was ignited.

Benson theorized that the little girl was awakened first and ran into the master bedroom to warn her parents. All three tried to leave but were overcome by the smoke before they could reach the

Sunday School Lesson

After Micah had concluded his admonitions about the uselessness of sacrifices as a means of buying forgiveness of sins, and he gave an exaggerated picture showing how misguided religious zeal can be, he comes to the real sacrifice by God—the sacrifice of a person's self.

He sums up "What is good" and what God expects of each individual to do justice, to love kindness, and to walk humbly with God. This, then, defines our personal responsibility as Christians to bring to pass by common effort the peace and justice demanded. But there is little use in promoting good relations and justice among nations if we cannot honestly give fair treatment to minority groups in our own communities.

fire in this shell and bomb battered area, said he has asked the United States to rush food and medical supplies to the area, where 250,000 persons are threatened by famine.

He said he is also in contact with Egyptian and French-British authorities in an attempt to coordinate security and order. He presently is trying to get the Egyptian police force back on the streets. Looting is rampant in the shattered sections of the city.

Tuesday morning, shortly after the British began shelling the Port Said shoreline, the Egyptian military commander for the area telephoned Cuomo and asked him to intercede and to arrange negotiations, the consul said.

Cuomo, after lengthy telephoning, finally got in touch with French officers in Port Fouad. But by the time they called back, the Egyptian general had been captured by advancing British troops. Later through the intercession of the Italian Consulate here, Cuomo met with French and British leaders to attempt to arrange a cease-fire.

Britain and France agreed earlier to turn their military positions in the canal zone over to the U. N. forces.

Egypt had agreed to accept the General Assembly resolution setting up a U. N. command for the Suez area. So far as could be learned, however, no additional word had been received from Cairo on acceptance of the police force itself.

Hammarskjöld said he regarded Egyptian agreement to the establishment of the U. N. command as acceptance of the force. But as nations volunteered contributions, he asked Egypt if each nationally was acceptable.

Today's Talk

THINGS BEYOND MONEY

Ever since I was a boy—and that was some time ago—I have noticed that money has always been scarce, excepting with those who earned it. It seems to have always come to such folks.

One reason why money should not be scarce is that it has such possibilities. It can do so much—and it is always doing much. But there are those who treat it as though it had been created for no other purpose than to be worshipped, or to be set up as a sign of selfishness and a tribute to pride.

Money should be for but one purpose alone, and that to make people happier, more comfortable, and to give each one a decent chance to earn it so as to live decently. And its distribution should be on an equitable basis, in proportion to merit and individual initiative. From spendthrifts, who have only had it handed to them by those who toiled long and energetically to earn it, it should be taken, or held in trust, for their own education, and the education of others who are worthy. Money is merely a medium of exchange. Those who have nothing to exchange for it do not deserve it.

Take a five-dollar bill, for instance, that has been earned, perhaps in only a single day. A part can be used for food and a part to pay for a book. That book represents much labor on the part of the one who thought it out and wrote it, and also the labor of any number who made the paper, the type, the binding, and who entered into the final making of the book. But the great benefit comes in what that book does to the one who spent his labor for it and then enriched his mental and spiritual life with it.

Who can not measure the worth of a book? It is beyond money value. The greatest classic of the world can now be purchased for but a few cents. Their total worth no one can appraise.

Money put into education pays dividends all through life. So does money put into works of art that inspire and light up the heart. Beauty value can only be appraised in terms of love. It's the deed behind money that gives it substance.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Are We A Stranger to Ourselves?"

FAST RACE

Success is fleet-footed. It leads every race. It urges all runners to keep up the pace.

It's swift, but the youngster who tries as he ought, discovers ere long that success can be caught.

"They're off!" is the shout and the spectators cheer. And did some one announce, this is what we might hear:

"Now Charlie's in front and that's Jimmy behind. And Bill in the field tries an opening to find."

Success sets the pace, and the runners come in. But only the bravest and surest can win.

It's a race, and before they shall get to the wire. The faint hearts and timid are certain to tire.

But one contest ends when the runners come in. Who loses today may the next trial win.

Success sets the pace. It is always ahead. Keep after it boy, though far off it has sped.

Expounds New Blood Theory: Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, Baltimore street, is the author of an article that appears in the November 8 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The article on "Prothrombin Deficiency" is believed to be the first one on that subject to be published in the English language. Recently, information has come to this country from Italian medical circles that substantiates the information contained in Doctor Sheely's articles.

"Prothrombin deficiency" is a deficiency of the blood that prevents normal clotting. It was the purpose of Doctor Sheely in his work on the subject to find out how this deficiency is related to certain states of pulmonary hemorrhage. It was found that in most cases this deficiency could be overcome by proper therapy and controlled bleeding.

Temple Poises Big Threat To Bullets Five-Game Win Streak; Kickoff At 1:30

A squad of 33 Gettysburg College football players, plus coaches, managers and trainers, left this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the Valley Forge Hotel, Norristown, where they will be quartered tonight before moving on to Philadelphia Saturday morning for their game with Temple University in the Temple Stadium at 1:30.

Saturday's game marks the first time the Bullets and Owls meet on the gridiron although other athletic teams of the schools have clashed over a long period of time.

Coach Johnny Yovis is somewhat apprehensive of the game, pointing out the Owls will go all-out to snap the five-game winning streak of his team.

Gettysburg's rock-ribbed rushing defense, tops among small Eastern colleges, will get a severe test as Temple's best offensive weapon to date has been its ground attack.

Hoffner To Be Absent
Adding to Bullet worries will be the absence of Marty Hoffner, 205-pound sophomore tackle, who will be out of uniform due to injuries. Bob Lebo, halfback, who saw brief action for the first time last week after being out since the opener at Lehigh, will be ready for more duty and his presence should be a big lift.

Bob Barkley, 210 junior, is scheduled to replace Hoffner in the lineup. Other Bullet starters will probably include Larry Davies and Bill Ward, ends; Al Kempton, tackle; Don Harman and Jerry Harrell, guards; John Yohn, center; Charley Heverly, Earl Yost, Don Hailey and Frank Capitani, backs.

Temple, piloted by Pete Stevens, has divided in six games. The Owls own victories over Muhlenberg 19-14; Scranton 28-20, and Carnegie Tech 27-12. Losses were sustained at the hands of Lafayette 20-0; Bucknell 12-6, and Lehigh 21-0.

Owls At Full Strength
In recent losses to Bucknell and Lehigh the Owls were without the services of several key players because of injuries but the entire squad is reported in fine shape for the Bullet scrap.

Temple will have a weight advantage with the following group scheduled to start:

Ends, Rowe, 215, and Hudak, 190; tackles, Dobrowski, 230, and Kulinski, 220; guards, Collett, 210, and Pankala, 196; center, Howley, 215; quarterback, Lanktus, 175; halfbacks, Thompson, 185, and Charters, 190, and O'Shea, 185.

The game will be broadcast by WGCT.

PM Quarterback May Snare Title

NEW YORK (AP)—John Costello, Penn Military quarterback, is in good position to capture the small college total offense crown this year, NCAA Service Bureau statistics show.

Costello has gained 1,267 yards on 122 carries in seven games—just 11 yards less than the small college leader, Dick Jamieson of Bradley. But Jamieson has completed his total on 170 carries in eight games.

Also a contender for a small college title is halfback Jim Villa of Allegheny College. He ranks third in rushing with 864 yards on 93 carries in six games; he leads, Heideberg's Walt Livingston, has gained 933 yards on 137 rushes in seven games.

OLYMPICS OFFICIALS "STUNNED"

By WILL GRIMSLEY
MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Officials of the Olympic Games said today they are "stunned" and "bitterly disappointed" that politics are creeping in to spoil the great sports spectacle.

Commenting on recurring withdrawals from the games, the latest being Switzerland, W. S. Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, said:

"Politics are a matter for the government. Sports should be something apart and should set an example for friendliness among nations."

"Set Shining Light"
These Olympics should set a shining light for warring nations and show that men can compete on the fields in friendly rivalry. You cannot get over an idea of punching a man in the jaw."

The executive officer of the games, Lt. Gen. Sir William Bridgeford, said he is sorry to see countries, especially small countries, "swayed from the great Olympic ideal by politics."

"This is a bitter disappointment to us naturally, since we have made such exhaustive preparations and sought to hold the games in the true Olympic spirit," he added.

Six Withdraw
The president of the U. S. Olympic team said:

"I would like to see all nations reconsider their action and come back into the games as an example to the rest of the world that men can live and play beside each other in peace," he declared.

In addition to Switzerland, other countries to withdraw are Spain, the Netherlands, Iraq, Red China and Egypt.

ADIOS HARRY IS RICHEST PACER

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Adios Harry may race a time or two again this year, but the world champion will be sent to the farm shortly and retire for the season as the greatest one year money winning pacer.

J. Howard Lyons, Greenwood, Del. farmer, announced plans for the 5-year-old after Adios Harry whipped seven of the world's fastest pacers last night in the $75,000 Eastern championship at Yonkers Raceway.

Luther Lyons, son of the owner, drove Adios Harry to a hard earned, 3-length victory over the west coast threat, Diamond Hal. Third, another 3/4 of a length away, was Bachelor Hanover.

The victory, with Adios Harry leading most of the way on a track termed "good" after all day showers, was worth $37,500 to the winner and shot his 1956 earnings to $128,162. This cracked the record of $110,299 set in 1952 by Good Time.

Lyons bought Adios Harry as a yearling at the Harrisburg, Pa., sales for $4,200.

Thursday's Score
Colts, 12; Giants, 6.

Jumping off to a fast start when Jim Oyler took the kickoff and streaked 45 yards for a score, the Colts defeated the Giants 12-6 in a National League touchball game Thursday at the Recreation Field.

The Giants tied the game when Steve Olson fired a 10-yard pass to Paul Plank who ran 10 additional yards. Late in the first half the Colts scored the winning TD on a 10-yard aerial from John Chrimer to Tom Whittinghill who went over from the five.

Strong defensive play by both teams resulted in a scoreless second half.

TRADING IS MIXED
NEW YORK (AP)—After a brief advance the stock market became mixed in early trading today.

Pivotal stocks fluctuated from fractions to around a point in quiet trading.

The initial gains were made after two days of generally declining prices.

Aircraft were favored, advancing a point or more then backed away but still kept much of their rise.

Warriors In Final With Nighthawks Here Tonight

Only two local scholastic football games are on tonight's schedule, both at 8 o'clock.

Gettysburg High closes its campaign by meeting its time-honored rivals, the Hanover High Nighthawks, here in a South Penn Conference game.

Littleton also rings down the curtain on its season when it is host to the strong Delone Catholic gridders. The Squires will also be closing their schedule.

HUNTER WITH BROKEN LEG IS SAVED BY SHOT

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A 34-year-old hunter fell and broke his leg on an isolated mountain near here but was rescued when his shouts for help attracted the attention of a sharp-eyed hunter a half mile away.

Calls for help by Ralph R. Holtzman, past president of the Sportsmen's Assn. of Lycoming county, carried across the Susquehanna River late yesterday and were heard by Joseph Lutz, Williamsport.

Lutz located the injured hunter through sound and notified the Montoursville state police who sent party of volunteer firemen to the scene to rescue Holtzman.

Holtzman, of South Williamsport, went to the isolated spot where he slipped and fell in some rocks, breaking his leg. He dragged himself about 35 yards and began shouting for help.

His shouts were heard by Lutz who was hunting on the other side of the river. Lutz, unable to see Holtzman, located him by sound. He then notified state police.

Montoursville firemen attempted to rescue Holtzman by crossing the river by boat but were unable to reach him. They then took a truck to the opposite side of the river and rescued Holtzman.

Bower said Lutz usually hunts by listening for game and credited his sharp hearing for the rescue before freezing temperatures set in at night.

The best "win" in Elorde's record was a non-title 10-round verdict over Saddler in Manila July 20, 1954.

Berrios' career record for 25 bouts is 19-6 with three knockouts. This is the New York debut of the 23-year-old Elorde, whose record for 45 fights is 33-10-2 with 14 knockouts.

G-BURG SOCCER LOSES 2-1 TO GREEN TERRORS

Western Maryland's strong soccer team scored twice in the third period to come from behind and gain a 2-1 decision over the Gettysburg College Bullets in a hard-fought match Thursday afternoon at Western Maryland.

It was the sixth win in seven starts for the Green Terrors and dropped the Bullets mark to 3-5-2.

Gettysburg scored in the second quarter when Don Emich took a pass from John Farquhar and booted the ball in from the edge of the goal box. The Terrors' goals came on kicks by Pete Urquhart and Lenny Hart in the third quarter.

Coach Bob Davies' squad will close its season next Wednesday when Temple plays here.

PUERTO RICAN AND FILIPINO FIGHT TONIGHT

NEW YORK (AP)—Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico and Gabriel (Flash) Elorde of the Philippines, a pair of busy little featherweights, provide an international touch to tonight's fight card at Madison Square Garden.

Berrios, a split decision winner over Elorde Aug. 22 at San Francisco, is an 8-5 favorite in the rematch.

The customers appear to like Berrios' work both in person and on the TV screen. He is a 5-foot-2 workman, deadly serious in his work, who wades in, taking punches to land one.

Best Saddler In '54
Elorde also won the sympathy of the fans in his losing title scrap with Sandy Saddler, the featherweight king, Jan. 18 at San Francisco. You may remember that was the night Saddler was criticized so much for his rough tactics, finally winning on a cut eye for a 13th-round technical knockout.

Hess And Wheeler Named Co-Captains Of Warrior Squad

Bobby Hess and John Wheeler were elected as co-captains of the Gettysburg High School football squad for the current season at a meeting of the Warrior squad this week.

Hess, 176-pound center, and Wheeler, 142-pound end, are two of the six seniors who will be terminating their careers tonight when Hanover High plays here.

Both youngsters have been standouts on the line during the season.

DELONE JUNIOR HIGH DEFEATED IN LAST GAME

Camp Curtin's undefeated football team knocked the Delone Junior High gridders from the unbeaten ranks by taking a hard-fought 9-0 decision at McSherrystown Thursday afternoon. The game closed the season for the Squires who had previously been undefeated and unscored upon in three games.

Camp Curtin made it eight straight this season and 17 in a row over a two-year span by virtue of the victory.

Gray Berrier recovered a Delone fumble on the Squires' 40-yard line in the first period to set up the only touchdown of the game. Led by Ernie Fisher, the Terrors drove to the three from where Phil Fowler circled right end to score. Another end sweep by Fowler added the point.

Terrors Add Safety
A safety was added by Camp Curtin in the second period when Dick Franklin tackled D. Topper behind the latter's goal line.

Defensive play marked the entire scoreless second half. At the end of the camp Camp Curtin had reached the Delone 5 via an 11-yard pass from Ed Harvey to Charlie Waters.

The coach for Camp Curtin lauded the play of the Squires and tagged them the best team his team felt during the campaign.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TODAY

It happens in offices, in factories, in barracks . . . on ships and trains and airplanes . . . in the quiet of churches, in the thunder of battle; we pause in the turmoil of time to read the Word of Eternity.

And the pages we read bring us close to those at home, or to those away from home.

For the Bible brings us to God, in Whom there are no distances, with Whom love encompasses all.

One of the great Christian enterprises of our time is the American Bible Society. Through the support of Christian churches and individuals it seeks to bring these divine pages before the eyes of men, women and children the world over.

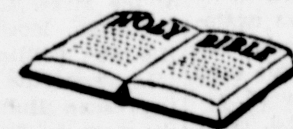

Like the churches of our community it calls men to the Truth on which unity and freedom are founded.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By H. R. and M. C. Gold

THE LORD'S REQUIREMENTS

Micah 4:1-5 6:6-8

Key Verse: He has showed you, O man, what is good; And what does the Lord require of you, But to do justice, and to love kindness, And to walk humbly with your God? Micah 6:8.

Probably no lesson many quarters has been so appropos to the events of the past two weeks as this one. Micah's voice comes down through the centuries, bidding Christians to take seriously the demand of God to do everything possible to establish a world of peace and justice. The conflict in the Middle East demands the attention and prayers of every thinking Christian. If we cannot set in motion workable means of arbitration and reconciliation between the warring nations, we will not have related our faith to current world problems.

One lesson commentator has stated how these international situations can be solved: "Plans for world peace and justice through disarmament pacts, world government, and international agreements, and conferences are necessary tools to implement in a concrete way and desires of men for peace and justice. But they are only tools. They can offer permanent solutions only as the nations come to God and seek to do His will." When this conversion of the nations to the will of God is even partially realized Micah's vision of world peace in Micah 4:1-5 will not have been written in vain. The United Nations is an instrument for peace and all nations should honor its efforts to settle disputes. Just three weeks ago World Order Sunday was observed by churches of many faiths. In a special message for World Order Sunday we read the following: "Judgment And Blessing"

"We believe that God is using nations today—for judgment and for blessing. Every nation, large, small, rich, poor, old, new, can have its own part in the development of world community. Sharing of varied peoples in the United Nations and in conferences at Geneva and Bandung has demonstrated ways nations can give of their uniqueness in creating community."

This harmonizes with Micah 4:1-2 where the nations are described as coming to the Lord—"peoples shall flow to it." The Hebrew people were just beginning to catch a vision of God as the God of all nations. They did not realize their responsibility for converting peoples of other nations, and Christ's command to "Go therefore and make disciples of all nations" would have fallen on deaf ears. It was Jesus' teaching and life which demonstrated that God works through people to accomplish His purposes.

A part of this vision (Micah 4:3-4) gives the picture of a peaceful, warless world where instruments of war—swords, spears, tanks, atom bombs—will be converted into peace-time machines. "And they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks." This is a powerful plea for universal disarmament. Differences between nations will be resolved in the light of God's will so that peace and justice will prevail and men may live in their homes without fear of war or reprisal. The concluding words of the verse give the divine origin of the prophecy—"for the mouth of the Lord of hosts has spoken."

The best of the writings of the Minor Prophets is represented in the passages selected from Micah. Although the last 12 books in the Old Testament were written by these Minor Prophets, their messages are just as important as those of the Major Prophets. Their prophecies were briefer, for Amos contains only nine chapters and Micah, seven. Despite their brevity, these prophets spoke with power and the greatest zeal for they lived at a time when Israel and Judah were threatened and when religion had become so formal that it had little real effect on the conduct of the people in their everyday living.

These prophets were not popular for they prophesied the destruction of the Hebrew nation, attacked social injustices, and proclaimed the futility of sacrifices as the measure of righteous living. Many of these utterances were harsh and bold, but some were equally hopeful and beautiful. Micah accomplished his main public work in the reign of Hezekiah during the 8th Century B.C. He witnessed the end of the Northern Kingdom and experienced the invasion of Palestine by Sargon and Sennacherib. He saw the corruption of morals and thus directed his prophecies against Samaria and Jerusalem for their sins and irreverence. His style is pure and his denunciations strong and severe.

EUROPEAN TOUR IS SPONSORED BY NEWSPAPER

TARENTUM, Pa. (AP) — A group of more than 200 Pennsylvanians from all walks of life will fly to Europe tomorrow on a tour sponsored by the Tarentum Valley Daily News.

The two-week tour will take the travelers to England, The Netherlands, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France.

Eugene A. Simon, president and general manager of the Valley Daily News, said the purpose of the trip is to give a "lot of little guys named Joe" an opportunity to see Europe.

"We aren't kidding ourselves that this little group is going to do a lot to increase international understanding," Simon observed, "but we do believe you can't beat seeing for yourself what makes things tick over there and thus have a little better understanding of international relations." Simon said 112 readers of the Valley Daily News have signed up for the tour. Also making the trip will be 37 readers of the Sharon (Pa.) Herald and 55 readers of the Times-Chronicle newspapers of Jenkintown, Pa. area, comprising three weeklies.

The plan was announced publicly last May and "we got a terrific response," Simon said. "We'll have a real cross-section of America on this trip."

Simon said the idea for the European tour developed from a trip the newspaper sponsored last January to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif. He said similar foreign tours are planned for the future on an annual basis.

The cost of the European trip per individual on a family basis is $698. The individual rate is $798. Simon said the initial cost "covers every single item of expense" with the exception of purely personal expenditures.

The group will leave Pittsburgh in three Air France Planes. One of the planes will fly to London via Chicago and Montreal, the others by way of New York.

From London the group will go

GUNMAN KILLS REALTOR, BEATS WIDOW ON HEAD

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A gunman shot a 75-year-old real estate man to death in his West Philadelphia office late yesterday, then beat the dead man's widow on the head with a pistol. He fled through an alley into a rush hour crowd.

Joseph Langman was shot through the chest. His widow, Elizabeth, also 75, who lay semi-conscious on the floor of the office for about a half hour, was admitted to Misericordia Hospital. She suffered a severe laceration of the head.

Police said the gunman took an undetermined amount of money from a large safe that was open in the office near the 60th and Market Sts. intersection.

The Langmans had been alone in the office. Langman's body was found in his desk chair. Mrs. Langman was discovered by John Mordomo, 36, an off-duty taxi driver. Mordomo was on his way to a barber shop next to the real estate office and heard Mrs. Langman knocking on the inside of the office door. Police were summoned from the nearby street intersection.

SAYS MILITARY BUDGETS WILL KEEP RISING

By STERLING GREEN
SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Industry leaders have been advised to expect rising military budgets and no substantial cut in U.S. military forces until 1960 or longer.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Carter L. Burgess presented this outlook to the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Council meeting here with government officials. Burgess appealed to the council, whose 165 members include the heads of many of the country's greatest corporations, for support in the Pentagon's effort to obtain and hold the hard core of technician-soldiers needed in modern warfare.

Burgess warned that defense costs probably will continue to mount for some time. The Defense Department assumes, he said, that the country's total production "will continue to grow, and defense will remain about 10 per cent of the total." National production now is estimated at an annual rate of 414 billion dollars a year, and is rising.

He brushed aside reports that Washington's "new new look" at the defense program might result in a sizable cut in the number of men in uniform.

The "military force strength may be subject to a very limited by train to the English Channel, take a ferry steamer across the Channel, and continue by train to Germany, Switzerland, Italy and Paris—the final European stop.

The return flight will be from Paris to Pittsburgh via New York.

Renegade Buffalo Has 5th Accident

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Ole Joe, renegade buffalo, has survived his fifth automobile collision in five years and he's little the worse for wear.

The 1,800-pound bull pays no attention to automobile traffic. He inflicted $300 damage on a territorial police patrol car near Big Delta, 100 miles south of here.

One car hit Joe at high speed and was almost demolished. Ole Joe was ailing for a time. He's one of a herd of buffalo ranging the Big Delta country.

Bury Golf Oil Corp. Official On Monday

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Funeral services will be held Monday at Lebanon, Pa., for William B. Shirk, former executive of Gulf Oil Corp.

Shirk, 62, died yesterday following a long illness at his suburban Mt. Lebanon home. A native of Lebanon, Shirk came here in 1927.

Following his graduation from Lehigh University, Shirk joined the Bethlehem Steel Corp. He later took a position with Westinghouse Electric Corp. and in 1930 moved to Gulf Oil. He retired as director of product development in Gulf's engineering department in 1952.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ruth Karch Shirk, his parents and two sons.

A nation wide poll of 500 fire chiefs shows that parents, rather than children, are more responsible for the billion dollar damages from fires in homes in the U. S. each year.

downward adjustment by the end of 1958," accompanied by a modest buildup of the armed forces, he said.

No End To Draft
But the current review of the military establishment, in connection with preparation of the fiscal 1958 budget to be sent to Congress by President Eisenhower in January, will result in "no cut in the combat forces that I know of," Burgess added.

He indicated the Pentagon will not be interested in proposals for ending the draft — as proposed for study by defeated Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson — until an alternative idea is presented for meeting military manpower needs.

MODERNIZATION OF OHIO RIVER AIMED FOR 1970

CINCINNATI (AP) — Completion of navigation modernization on the Ohio River by 1970 has become an aim of the Ohio Valley Improvement Assn.

The civic-industrial group, winding up its 61st annual meeting here yesterday, adopted a resolution urging that the modernization work be completed by 1970 instead of within 20 to 25 years as originally proposed.

The resolution said Ohio River commerce "faces the threat of a major crisis" if a national emergency should bring extraordinary demands on water transportation facilities.

The association also took a stand against imposition of tolls or user charges on American waterways. It urged its trustees and officers to oppose any such plan "by all appropriate means."

800 Sewage Plants
In another meeting, Kenneth M. Lloyd, of Youngstown, chairman of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission, told his group that 800 municipalities in the Ohio Valley with a total population of more than 7½ million now have sewage treatment plants in operation or under construction.

Lloyd said copies of his report on the progress in water sanitation are being sent to the governments of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia—the eight states which are members of water sanitation group.

Lloyd added that the progress being made does not "establish any basis for complacency."

"Satisfactory control of industrial and unremitting effort," he said, "to this task the commission is devoting major attention."

He also reported that studies are being made of water-quality changes that may be associated with atomic energy developments.

"The water samples indicated no actual or potential hazard to the public health at this time," Lloyd said. "More complete evaluation of radioactivity levels will require additional sampling."

$350,000 Fire Loss To Furniture Plant

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Fire yesterday nearly destroyed a three-story furniture manufacturing plant on the outskirts of Lock Haven causing damage estimated at more than $350,000.

Robert K. Griffin, owner of the R. K. Griffin Co., said his plants was destroyed when a spark ignited lacquer fumes in the wood finishing department.

Eight fire companies responded to the alarm and fought the blaze for four hours. No one was injured.

Griffin made the damage estimate.

The U. S. Steel Corp. was the largest private coal producer in the nation in 1955.

FIRE DESTROYS HOTEL, HOUSE IN NEW JERSEY

LONG BRANCH, N. J. (AP) — The rooming house burned to the Riviera Hotel and an adjoining ground today in a swift fire which did damage estimated at $100,000.

Fire Chief Arthur Green said the blaze started on the ground floor of the unoccupied hotel from an unknown cause and engulfed the three-story building at 156 Ocean Ave. within 20 minutes.

It spread to a three-story rooming house at 164 Ocean Ave., also unoccupied. Both buildings are of wood frame and were boarded up for the winter.

Police Capt. C. Carroll Green said he will call in an investigator for the National Board of Fire Underwriters to assist him in a probe of the cause.

The owner of the hotel is Paul Pugliese of Newark. It had more than 50 rooms but only the chimneys were left standing.

The rooming house was owned by Mrs. Conchetta Farina, also of Newark.

A tool shed at the rear of her property, owned by Mrs. Anna Labbate, also was damaged.

Fire Chief Green estimated damage to the hotel between $75,000 and $100,000 with another $25,000 to the rooming house and shed. No injuries were reported.

Four Arrested In Theft Of Safe, $500

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — Four men, two of them Pennsylvanians and two Marylanders, were arrested and held in $3,500 bail yesterday after a safe containing $500 was stolen from a hardware store.

Emmitt Walker, 35, of Baltimore, Melvin Deshong, 24, of Lehigh, Pa., and Leroy Franklin Files, 24, of Hagerstown were fugitives from the Maryland House of Correction. The fourth man was Russell R. Sutherland of York, Pa. They were picked up by city police after an alarm was sounded.

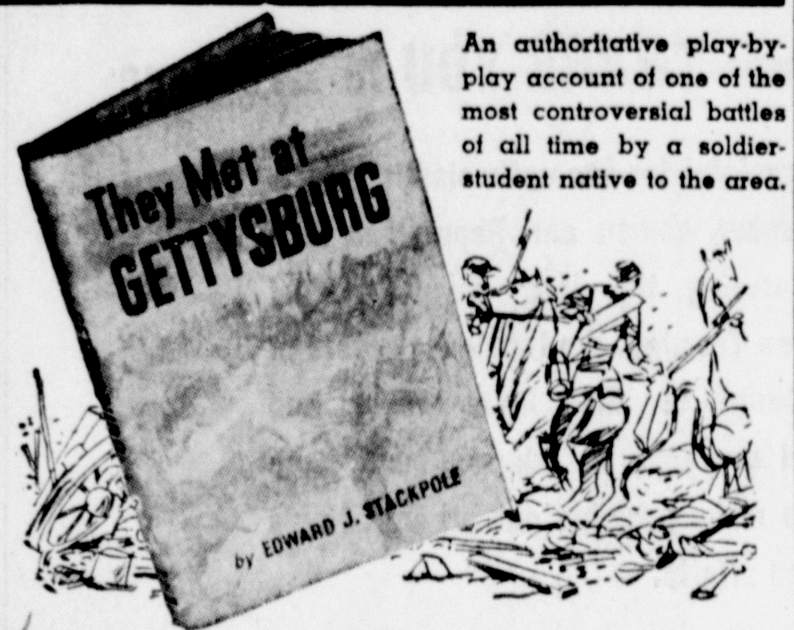

Military headquarters said six Israelis were wounded in as many attacks by commandos last night and early today.

NEW LETTERS THROW LIGHT ON YOUNG LEE

By SYD KRONISH
The Associated Press

Gen. Robert Edward Lee's reputation as a brave soldier and keen military strategist during the turbulent Civil War is preserved in history.

But behind the stiff and serious facade of the soldier lay the warm and witty soul of a man with a zest for life.

And, as history relates, his happiest years were spent as a junior officer in the U. S. Army before the Civil War.

This young Lee vividly comes to life in a newly found and hitherto unpublished batch of 13 letters written by him between Nov. 3, 1831, and June 21, 1846.

To Best Friend
They were written to his best friend and former West Point roommate, Lt. John Mackay, and were saved for posterity by Mackay's family.

The fact that they were saved at all is one of the most remarkable things about them since they were written at a time when Lee was a young officer with no indication that one day he would become the general-in-chief of the Confederate armies.

The letters speak of adventures with the Indians, barracks life in the Army, and a secret expedition being fitted out to take over California.

But this great man's letters also reveal a charming individual with a keen sense of humor and love for friends and family.

Lee makes many affectionate references to his family, calling his children "the dearest annuals of the season" and tells how they play while he is at work. "I have been made a horse, dog, ladder and target for a cannon by the little Lees since I started writing."

Sense Of Humor
This one, dated March 18, 1841, from Lee's home in Arlington, Va., was written tongue in cheek fashion:

"Among the things that then distracted my attention was the arrival of another little Lee, whose approach however long foreseen, I could have dispensed with for a year or two more. However, as she was in such haste to greet her Pa, I am now very glad to see her, although she has not conformed to the order established by her predecessors. For you must know that we have been very precise in arranging them in pairs of a boy and a girl, and come out of her turn. Yet I must play the forgiving father and excuse her first offense. To add to the confusion created in the wigwag by this unprecedented breach of discipline, the aforesaid couples prepared themselves with most elaborate colds and opened upon this newcomer with such an incessant barking that all my care and attention were required to keep them from her captivating presence."

Time For Grips
As a young officer, Lee found time for several grips about Army life. Said he on Oct. 19, 1838, from Des Moines Rapids:

"The manner in which the Army

AMERICAN GALS HAVE PRETTIEST LEGS AND FEET

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

How will American beauties accept their role, femme fatale, 1912 fashion?

"It's not going to be easy," says Guy Nicolet, Paris representative and expert for Elizabeth Arden, now in America on a three-month lecture tour that will take him to Dallas, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Boston, New York and numbers of other cities.

"The new look is a crystal look," he says. "Makeup is pale, the rosebud mouth is pink, eyebrows are naturally heavy. American women used to smearing their makeup on with a heavy hand will have a difficult time coping with the idea."

Nicolet says the trouble with American makeup is that women either use nothing, looking washed out, or too much. There is no in-between, he says. But that is true of dress also. He explains:

Americans Spotted
"American women are spotted easily in Europe. They are always overly made-up and overly dressed."

is considered and treated by the country and those whose business it is to nourish and take care of it, is enough to disgust everyone with the service, and has the effect of driving every good soldier from it, and rendering those who remain discontented, careless and negligent."

"Any time new evidence concerning the lives of great men is uncovered, it brings us all in more intimate contact with those revered so much and gives us a peek behind the curious curtain of history."

There also are letters written during his bachelor days when he discusses the pretty young ladies he had seen and talks about the "flat, stale and unprofitable life of a bachelor."

The discoverer of these previously unpublished pieces is Charles Hamilton of 515 Madison Ave., New York, a dealer in rare autographs and documents.

Hamilton who is always searching for such historical works and who is considered an authority on the subject, says:

"Historians as well as fond admirers and readers of Lee (like myself) certainly are glad these new letters have been brought to light."

At nine in the morning they wear cocktail dresses, furs, jewels, unlike European women who are content to wear simple daytime clothes and a minimum of makeup."

Nicolet believes bad taste starts with our youth. Young girls, he says, have too much freedom in America. Parents are not severe, permitting dyed hair and heavy makeup and the emulation of movie stars to the heart's content of the Jeune Filie, ruining their good looks.

European women use makeup discreetly, so that one does not become "suspicious of it," he says. They use a thin foundation and put most makeup emphasis on the eyes, which after all is a woman's most captivating area.

They take good care of their complexions, too, unlike American women, who soak up the sun until their skin looks like leather, then with the added burden of foundation cream, emphasize the lines caused by the sun.

"A 25-year-old girl looks old when she is sun-wrinkled. It is the most aging thing a woman can permit — too much sunshine on her face."

Loose Chignon
The rage in Paris hairdos is the loose chignon, popular 1910-1913, he says. It is worn at the crown of the head, a youthful hairdo that is catching on in America also.

"This hairdo must not look too studied though," Nicolet advises "it will be a mistake to lose the loose flowing effect of it."

Ivory skin with no rouge and a rose aurora at the mouth will be the complexion look, he says. Heavy natural eyebrows will be popular, accomplished with grey eyebrow pencil for everyone but red heads. An eye line may be used for that 1/4 inch mark at the corners of the eyelids, above and below. Kohl powder, the same as that used by Indian women for that big-eyed look, may be worn just above the bottom lashes to emphasize the eyes. He suggests grey-black or dark blue eyelash makeup.

Even though the up hairdo is popular for daytime wear, hair may be worn during the day in a simple style. Hair will be longer definitely, he says, although we will not go back to the "trailing hairdos of yesterday."

protection that really

says J. J. O'CONNELL, Vice President, Berkshire Knitting Mills, world's largest manufacturer of full-fashioned hosiery for women

"We've had Blue Cross since 1946. No other plan we've seen meets people's needs so effectively. Blue Cross provides help in terms of the hospital care any one of our employees or his dependents may require. And with over 3200 protected here, Blue Cross handling of administrative details relieves us of much time-consuming work."

Blue Cross Plans, serving locally coast to coast, bring Americans this famed program for prepayment of hospital care... the only one officially approved by the American Hospital Association.

THE FACT that so many outstanding companies continue their Blue Cross programs year after year proves how well Blue Cross Plans meet the needs of both workers and management.

Blue Cross simplifies paperwork. Local Blue Cross Plans work directly with hospitals in handling details of the employee's hospital care. Management is saved trouble and expense in claim-filing, investigations, record-keeping and personnel problems.

Many special advantages are provided to companies and employees through the unique "partnership" Blue Cross Plans have with hospitals in the community. Only Blue Cross Plans have official AHA approval.

Easy for employees. Whenever care is needed, the individual simply shows his Blue Cross card upon admission to a participating hospital. Because Blue Cross operates locally, both costs and benefits are set to meet local needs and conditions. The aim of Blue Cross is to provide for needed hospital care, rather than inflexible dollar allowances.

Low in cost. A not-for-profit organization, the local Blue Cross Plan sets aside all income, except for low expenses, to pay for hospital care. Last year, Blue Cross Plans paid out $890,000,000 for care of members.

Fits your welfare program. Blue Cross is flexible and easily included in benefit "packages." Since Blue Cross may be continued by individuals after they leave the company, it may become a retirement benefit.

Interesting information is available on how your company can benefit with Blue Cross. Contact your local Blue Cross plan in one of the cities listed below. Full information will be given to you, and there is no obligation.

Youth Tells Of 12 Days Of Horror At Sea In Crude Boat

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP)—"Those sharks were awful. They came in droves. Bumped their heads against the boat, kept whipping about in the water. When my buddy died I laid down in the bottom of the boat. I didn't want the sharks to see me."

Through cracked lips, 20-year-old Douglas Wilson Sessoms of Laurinburg, N.C., so described his 12 days at sea in a 14-foot homemade boat.

"I don't remember exactly," said the curly haired young tree surgeon when landed here early today by a Coast Guard boat, "just when (J. Eddie) Boone died but I believe it was on the third day."

Sessoms and the 34-year-old Boone, also of Laurinburg, a foreman in a tree surgery group, had set out from Corn Cake inlet, 30 miles south of Wilmington, N.C., on Oct. 27 on a short fishing excursion. Rough seas washed out their outboard motor and a receding tide pulled them to sea between Ft. Fisher and Bald Head Island, south of Carolina Beach.

"The first day, Boone was awfully nauseated," Sessoms, speckled with skin sores, recalled. The next day he began showing signs of delirium. He was out of his head the third day. I think that's the day he died. I slept with my head on his arm two nights. After the odor got too strong I buried him at sea.

"I got to where I couldn't think about anything but food, and land and (drinking) water. (He said he caught sufficient rainwater in the motor cover to fill his drinking needs)."

"But I gave up hope only once. I kept praying to the Lord and my hope came back and I never gave up hope again.

"Two ships passed way off but didn't see me."

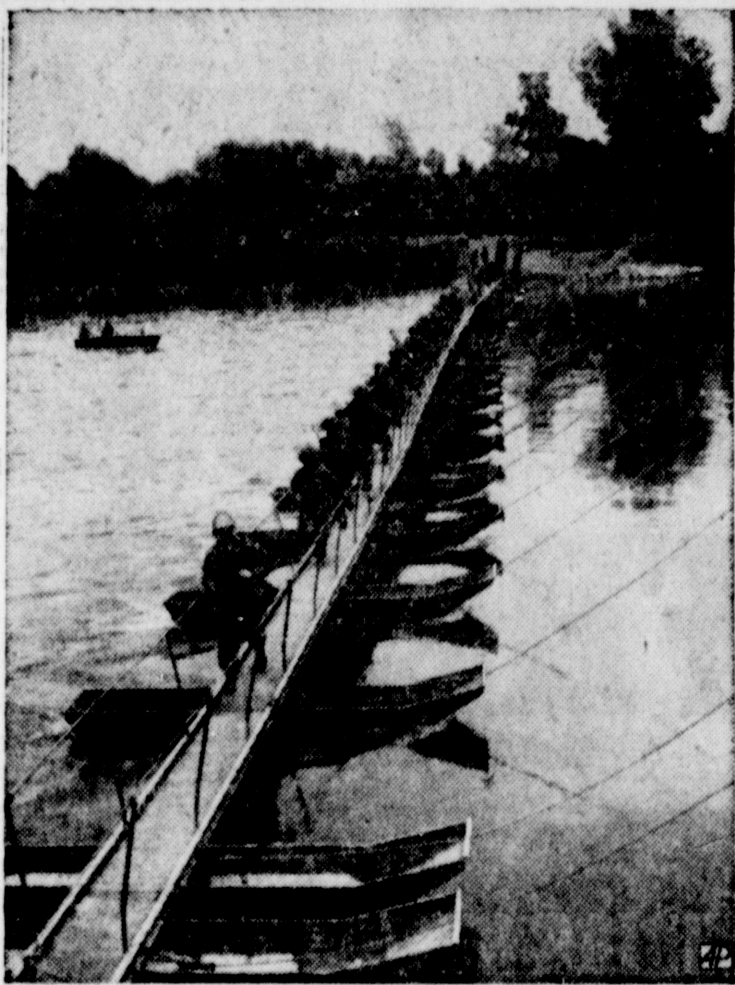

"When that third ship hove into sight yesterday, I was too weak to stand up. I'd been without food nine days. I raised up from the bottom of the boat high enough for my head to show, and I waved my arm. They came and got me."

The SS Hess Petrel picked up the sturdy young man with the blond stubble beard 125 miles east of the South Carolina-Georgia border. At 1:30 a.m., today the Petrel transferred Sessoms to a Coast Guard boat 55 miles east of Southport.

Sessoms was hospitalized here at 5:30 a.m., at Dasher Memorial Hospital, where Dr. Norman Honstein, after an examination, reported: "He is in very fine condition considering what he has been through. He is suffering from external ulcers caused by salt water exposure. He is not suffering much shock. He does have wind burns. If no complications set in he should be in the hospital about a week."

HARRISBURG (AP)—Unofficial low bids have been received by the State Public School Building Authority for construction of a junior-senior school building in the Blue Ridge Joint School District, Susquehanna County.

Bids received yesterday were: General construction — William F. Sutter, Nescopeck, $768,210; heating — Joseph A. Rado, Berwick, $153,375; plumbing — Rado, $117,495; electrical — Milton E. Hobbs, Clarks Summit, $7,100.

ON THE MOVE — Engineer trainees of new West German Army run across pontoon bridge thrown across Danube River near Ingolstadt, Bavaria. Bridge was erected in 12 minutes.

USE DISPOSABLE MOSS DIAPERS FOR INDIANS

TORONTO (AP)—Nature's throw-away diapers still are used by many Northern Ontario Indian mothers who stick to the economical and practical methods of baby care their forebears have followed for centuries.

Indian mothers use absorbent moss, which they pack around the baby being carried in a "Tikinagun" or moss-bag on its mother's back.

Frank Belmore describes the Indian's answer to a diaper service in "The Tikinagun," an article in the current issue of Sylvia, published by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.

The Tikinagun is a basket-like cradle, made mainly of wood, in which the Indian child, padded with moss and firmly laced, spends most of his time until he can walk. He rides strapped to his mother's back or in a canoe or sled. But is taken out at night to sleep.

Pine Is Taboo

Tradition and superstition are linked in the making of a Tikinagun, spruce being used for the main board. Pine is taboo because the Indian associates pine branches with the sighing of the wind which would disturb a sleeping child. The spruce is cut from the southeast side of the tree because of the Indian belief in the influence the rising sun has on life. The child's back will rest against the side of the wood away from the heart of the tree, because to face the centre of a tree is a symbol of death. His head will be at the end of the board toward the top of the tree because nothing can grow upside down.

The baby is bound into a U-shaped frame of ash or white birch by a laced-up strip of plaid blanket. Around him is packed the absorbent moss. Rabbit fur keeps his feet warm in winter.

Indian babies suffer no diaper rash, possibly due to the moss having antiseptic qualities. A dusting powder of rotted birch wood is sometimes used to relieve chafing.

When the baby outgrows his Tikinagun at about 10 months, he is transferred to another in a

$75 A WEEK COP MOVES INTO 14 ROOM MANSION

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A $75-a-week park policeman has moved into a 14-room mansion overlooking the Schuylkill River which he gets rent free.

William P. O'Toole, Fairmount Park guard, his wife Doris and their two-year-old daughter moved from a second-floor apartment in a South Philadelphia row house.

The 100-year-old mansion is owned by the Park Commission which allows its employees to have certain park residences rent free. O'Toole's name was at the top of the applicant list when "Lemon Hill" was added to the occupancy rolls.

Originally Robert Morris, famous financier of the Revolutionary War, occupied a 300-acre estate on Lemon Hill. After Morris' imprisonment for debt, the estate was sold in 1799 to Henry Pratt who built the present mansion.

Vacate Mansion

In 1845 the land was taken over large size. Instead of throwing the old one away, it used to be the custom to take it into the bush and fasten it to a sturdy tree.

Heart Volunteers To Meet Saturday

Dr. John B. LeVan, of Reading, has been appointed Southeastern Regional chairman for the Pennsylvania Heart Campaign which will be conducted in February.

Dr. LeVan, whose appointment includes coordinating heart volunteers in a 17-county area, will chair a Regional Fund-Raising Workshop at the Berkshire Hotel in Reading, Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. Approximately 50 key campaign personnel from southeastern Pennsylvania counties will hear about heart programming and its relationship to the Heart Fund.

Roger W. Clipp is state chairman of the February Drive.

by the city and made a public park. For almost 30 years Lemon Hill was the residence of Fiske Kimball, director of the Philadelphia art museum. After his death the mansion became vacant last year.

The Park Commission thought for a time of converting the home into an official residence for Philadelphia mayors. When it was found remodeling would cost $100,000, this project was deferred if not dropped.

The O'Tooles don't get the entire mansion, just the first floor which includes the living room, two bedrooms, kitchen, bath and laundry. They must maintain their quarters and be prepared to move

STUDEBAKER PRESENTS WIDE TRUCK VARIETY

The widest range of engines, power, models and gross vehicle weights in company history highlights the Studebaker Transtar line of trucks for 1957.

The truck line, which traditionally covers the light and medium duty fields, now moves into the heavy duty classification for the first time with the introduction of the new models in dealerships across the country on November 8.

Major advancements for Studebaker trucks for 1957 include for the first time:

The most powerful truck engine in company history; highest gross vehicle weight in company history; five new models in the two-ton medium and heavy duty series; automatic transmissions for the one-ton classification; power steering for the one to two-ton models; power brakes for light duty models; premium features package for light duty model engines; the biggest if the commission decides to make other use of the mansion.

The six-foot-four O'Toole can walk out his front door, admire the view and be at work. His beat includes Lemon Hill.

McGuire Sisters' Apartment Robbed

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the singing McGuire sisters have reported their Manhattan apartment was looted of $40,000 in valuables—including furs, jewelry, clothing, a TV set and refrigerator.

The thieves even took rugs and drapes worth $1,250 and $1,000 worth of silverware, police were told by Dorothy and Phyllis McGuire. The third sister, Iris, is married and lives elsewhere.

The burglary took place Wednesday night while the sisters were warbling on the Arthur Godfrey TV show.

engine for the light duty units ever offered by the company; new 102-inch bumper-to-back-of-cab length.

These advances plus new styling, horsepower increase up to 21 per cent, torque increases up to 24 per cent, with Studebaker's traditional economy, riding comfort and leading payload-to-weight ratio, combine to give Studebaker the most competitive truck line in its history, Carl Revelle, general sales manager, said in announcing the line.

The new Transtar line for 1957 ranges from 1/2-ton pickup models to the new two-ton heavy duty trucks, covering 85 per cent of the truck market and giving the company its widest offering of models and gross vehicle weights in its history.

SAYS OLD LAW GIVES POWER TO ISSUE WARRANT FOR GOVERNOR

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A Dauphin County alderman told the Pennsylvania Supreme Court Thursday that a 120-year old state law gives him legal power to issue a warrant accusing Gov. Leader of criminal contempt of court.

J. L. Grimes of Harrisburg, in an answer filed by his attorneys, Frederick G. McGavin and Earl V. Compton, asked the high tribunal to dismiss a petition for a writ of prohibition filed by Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen.

The attorney general had appealed for dismissal of warrants issued by Grimes for the governor on criminal information filed last Oct. 26 by Charles W. Stickler Jr., president of Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp.

Charges Fraud
Leader has charged Manu-Mine with conspiring to defraud the state in connection with work it had done for the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission. Manu-Mine has denied this and has filed legal action in Dauphin County for money allegedly due it under contract recently cancelled by the commission.

In addition a Dauphin County grand jury is investigating Justice Department charges that Manu-Mine defrauded the state.

Grimes said in his answer that "the grave questions" concerning his legal right to issue warrants against the governor—especially as to whether such action is constitutional—should be disposed of after a hearing, with written and oral arguments, before the nine justices of the Supreme Court. Grimes said that a 1936 law provides that a person can be prosecuted if he makes any publication either written or oral, that would improperly tend to bias the minds of the public, or of the court, on a question pending before a court.

He said Stickler filed his criminal information under this law and it "is competent for the respondent (Grimes) to issue a warrant to obtain jurisdiction of the person of the said George M. Leader."

Grimes denied charges of the attorney general that he claimed to have legal authority to hear or determine contempt proceedings. He also denied that the purpose of Stickler's accusations, for which the alderman issued warrants, "was to hamper, impede or interfere" with the governor's proper exercise of his duties.

No Authority
Grimes said that Stickler's only purpose "was to prevent further prejudice of Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp. and himself by the defendant (Gov. Leader) publishing inflammatory statements tending to bias the minds of the public and the jurors against them."

The alderman also pointed out that attorneys for Stickler, when they applied for the warrant, recommended to Grimes that out of respect to the governor's office and to prevent interference with his executive duties that Leader "should not be taken into custody but said warrant should be read to him and that he be invited to enter bail at his convenience."

Grimes said also in denying a statement by the attorney general that Leader had the public right to make statements on all state matters, that "there is no constitutional or statutory provision authorizing or requiring the governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania to publish matters relating to proceedings then before the courts."

800 MINISTERS ARE EXPECTED AT CONFERENCE

More than 800 Pennsylvania ministers "will receive inspiration and instruction for their preaching and pastoral work" at the fifth annual State Pastors' Conference to be held in Market Square Presbyterian Church, Harrisburg, November 13-15.

The only gathering of its kind in the state, the conference will bring together ministers from 19 Protestant communions representing 3,000,000 people. Sponsored by the Pennsylvania Council of Churches, the conference is designed to provide information of interest to the pastors; foster fellowship and inspiration among pastors of all Protestant communions and to serve as a refresher course for the ministers.

The Rev. W. Ward Smith, York, chairman of the conference committee, said that 14 state and national church leaders will give lectures on the preaching and pastoral work of the minister.

Four Discussion Groups
They include: Dr. Wilbur W. Bloom, executive secretary, Pennsylvania Baptist Convention; Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, pastor, Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City; Dr. Ernest T. Campbell, pastor, First Presbyterian Church, York; Dr. Perry Epler Gresham, president, Bethany College, Bethany, West Virginia; Dr. Addison H. Leitch, president, Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary; Dr. David Haxton Carswell Read, pastor, Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, and Bishop Hazen G. Werner, resident bishop of the Ohio Area of the Methodist Church, Columbus, Ohio. There will be four simultaneous discussion groups on (1) "The Pri-

Truman To Mind "Personal Business"

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—With his campaigning at an end, former President Harry S. Truman said Thursday he was going "to tend to my personal business."

His private affairs took a back seat in the past six weeks with his speaking campaign in behalf of the Democratic ticket. He covered about 10,000 miles, making as many as five or six speeches a week.

His last four appearances were made in Missouri, one at Salem, two at St. Louis and one at nearby Liberty at a party rally Monday night.

The former President said he expects to devote a great deal of his time in the weeks ahead to the Harry S. Truman Library which will hold the papers of his administration. It is expected to be completed in the spring.

ORDER CROSSING SIGNALS
HARRISBURG (AP)—Automatic flashing signals have been ordered installed by next Oct. 1 at the Reading Co. grade crossing at Souderton, Montgomery County.

The Public Utility Commission yesterday ordered the company to set the automatic signals in place of signs now used at the tracks crossing at Township Line Road in Hatfield and Franconia Twp.

Task of the Church," Dr. Ernest T. Campbell, resource leader, Rev. Paul C. Shumaker presiding; (2) "Worship Through Church Music," Robert Clippinger, resource leader, Rev. W. Ward Smith presiding; (3) "Counseling," Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, resource leader, Dr. J. Winmore Mason presiding; and (4) "Christian Stewardship Through the United Church Canvass," Dr. Arthur O. ## PENTAGON FINDS NO SIGNS RUSSIA WILL ATTACK US

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon, alert to the recent shifting of Soviet forces behind the Iron Curtain, so far has discovered no sign of any movement of the Red's long-range air force into position where it could attack North America.

Such an ominous move would foreshadow general nuclear war. And in these trigger-tense days, the United States is being ultra-cautious about making any shifts of its own Strategic Air command units that might be misunderstood by the Kremlin.

"They Are Not Poised"
In discussing the Russian long-range force, which now consists of medium and heavy bombers by the hundreds, one informed Pentagon officer said today that "so far as we know they are not poised."

He hastened to add that the United States didn't know a Japanese carrier force was en route in 1941 until bombs hit Pearl Harbor. But he made it plain that the devices of intelligence now are somewhat more reliable.

The Russian leaders, of course, might try to invade Western Europe—if they were so inclined—without using atomic weapons, this inducing the Western powers to abstain also from nuclear explosives.

If American strategy makers could learn the real reason for the Russian troop movements, their own planning would be easier. They are giving full attention to the possibility that Russian concern about new uprisings among the satellites, not any thought of war against the West, is back of the shifting of powerful army forces.

Nicaragua is the largest of the six Central American republics, roughly the size of the state of Michigan.

OBJECT TO TRUSTEE

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — A relative of the late Amedeo M. Obici, of Planters Nut and Chocolate Co., has appealed to the State Supreme Court the appointment of P. J. McGough as a trustee of a charitable trust left by Obici. The appeal was made yesterday by Joseph F. Rocco, of nearby Dunmore. The proceedings involve control of the company, of which McGough is an official. McGough's appointment was approved by Orphans Court Judge James F. Brady of Scranton.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peoples Broadcasting Co. was authorized by the Communications Commission yesterday to operate a Channel 31 television station at Lancaster, Pa. Peoples operates radio station WLAN at Lancaster.

ruined old castle at Buda, overlooking the capital, and several other strong points throughout the city.

Two more of the city's best hotels—the Royal and the Continental—went up in flames. Heavy rebel fire prevented fire brigades from getting near the blazing buildings, Budapest radio said.

The pro-Red government broadcast warnings that new battle groups—labeled R-groups—are being formed to combat "brigands and plunderers" in the old Danube capital.

The rebels raided a state-owned store and carried off 5,000 radio sets, apparently to supply the capital with means to get news from the outside.

People With Rebels

A Hungarian student arriving from Budapest said the people of all villages and towns he passed on his way were with the rebels. He said he saw several truckloads of Hungarian soldiers carrying the red, white and green "free" Hungarian flag and speeding toward Budapest.

Individual Soviet tanks were being attacked by civilians even in small villages, the student said. He added that he saw several abandoned armored cars.

Other reports reaching Vienna from Budapest said that all rebels who surrendered arms were executed instantly by the Russians in the city Rakosi Square.

A decree ordered officers and soldiers of the regular Hungarian army to remain inside their barracks.

Deny Nagy Arrest

Budapest radio denied reports that the former government of Imre Nagy had been arrested. He broadcast said Nagy has left the Parliament building—now in control of Soviet troops—of his own will. It claimed several members of the Nagy government are actively supporting the new regime. There have been conflicting reports about Nagy. Some said he was in the custody of Soviet troops. MTI, the official Hungarian news agency, reported Sunday Nagy had fled to a "safe place." MTI at the time was in rebel control.

The Soviet-controlled Budapest radio also denied what it said were foreign reports that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty had been arrested. He was reported in the American Embassy in Budapest.

Plunder Rail Station

The official radio admitted insurgents under cover of darkness had plundered Budapest's western railway station and ransacked trains. Earlier the radio had claimed Soviet troops occupied all Budapest's railway depots. Red broadcasts spoke of "armed persons" and "armed gangs."

Russia's warning against intervention from beyond the Iron Curtain came in a reply from Premier Bulganin to President Eisenhower's note asking that Russian soldiers be pulled out of Hungary.

Bulganin, quoted by Moscow radio, said the question of a Soviet withdrawal "comes complete, and entirely under the competence of the Hungarian and Soviet governments."

The Soviet Premier recommended that Eisenhower "get acquainted with the program" broadcast by the Soviet-installed Hungarian government of Premier Janos

MANY PROBLEMS ARE INVOLVED IN CANAL ISSUE

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — If there's a winner in the Egyptian conflict he is not yet in sight.

The fighting was done by the British, French, Israelis and Egyptians. The United States and Russia are in it up to their necks, trying to stop it and trying to come out looking good.

The United Nations is mixed up in it too, trying to gain a victory for world opinion and moral force over military force.

The Israelis said they attacked Egypt to put an end to torments by their neighbor, who had been raiding over their border. They also wanted to collect some Egyptian real estate, which they did.

When the shooting stopped they held the Gaza Strip and the Sinai Peninsula and said they wouldn't give up that territory. But under pressure from President Eisenhower, Russia, Britain and the U. N. they said yesterday they'd go back into Israel to let a U. N. police force take over.

Shot Only Egyptians

The British and French said they went into Egypt to separate the Israelis and Egyptians and to protect the Suez Canal. But he

Reject U. N. Appeal

Bulganin's note seemed to spell continued failure for U. N. efforts to secure the Russian troops withdrawal and the entry into Hungary of a team of U. N. observers, both demanded in a General Assembly resolution last weekend.

The Assembly scheduled another meeting today to take up new resolutions (1) accusing the Soviet Union of genocide and violent repression, (2) calling again for food and raw material deliveries, Soviet withdrawal, free elections and U. N. investigation, and (3) asking the Soviet Union to stop interfering with distribution of food and medical relief, which the Kadar regime has refused from the West.

Budapest radio claimed "large food and raw material deliveries" from Russia and the neighboring satellites were waiting to be brought inland from border stations.

Strike Not Overcome

The broadcast asked railwaymen to begin shipping the supplies, an indication that the crippling transport strike, begun after the anti-Red revolt, had not been overcome.

The Red radio also asked shopkeepers and workers in the food industries to resume work today. It said Soviet troops had agreed to let clearly marked food trucks pass on the highways.

Other broadcasts begged the people to help stop looting and to open food stores not operating. The insurgents called on the population to join in the looting, "otherwise the Soviet soldiers will get all these things," the broadcast said.

Some hotels were set afire and fire fighters were held off from putting out the flames, the radio asserted.

only ones they shot at were Egyptians. And the canal is now so fouled up from sunken ships it may be out of use for months.

The British and French — under pressure from Eisenhower, the Russians and the U. N. — not only agreed to stop shooting before they had taken over all of the canal area but they agreed to leave the canal.

They may have gained a point on agreeing to quit the canal because they will turn it over to a U. N. police force in the hope later an international agreement will take control of the waterway away from Egyptian President Nasser.

But they can't be sure of that now. It was primarily Nasser's seizure of the canal and fear that he might close it any time he pleased that took them into Egypt in the first place, no matter what reason they gave.

"Destroy Nasser"

The British, French and Israelis shared one thing in common when they ganged up on Egypt: it was to destroy Nasser. Instead of destroying him, they may have strengthened his grip on the Egyptian people.

Meanwhile, the British and French put a big hole in their alliance with the United States by making the attack. They also antagonized the whole Arab world and the Middle East against the West.

Eisenhower then had the unpleasant job of trying to bail out the British, French and Western influence in the Middle East by putting all the heat he could on the British and French to back up.

Reds Dive In

Whether his influence turned the trick is not known. For the Russians, seeing their chance to pose as the only friend the Arabs had and thus move into the Middle East if the West loses out there, got into the act too.

Premier Bulganin wrote to Britain's Prime Minister Eden, Bulganin didn't — in so many words — threaten to get into the Middle East war if the British and French didn't quit. The British began to sound softer.

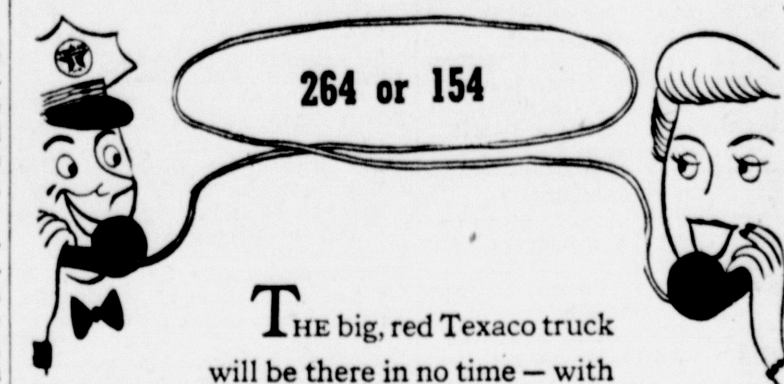

Meanwhile, Bulganin suggested to Eisenhower that the United States and Russia act together to stop the fighting. That was the last thing Eisenhower wanted. It would put Russian troops into the Middle East and it would have the United States fight its allies. He turned down Bulganin cold.

Bulganin's letter to Eisenhower was a phony. He was suggesting that the United States and Russia cooperate only if the U. N. approved, knowing the U. N. wouldn't. But the Russians sounded so tough, even though making double-talk, that the United States and everyone else was afraid of World War III.
